

The Construction Group of Dixon Hughes Goodman understands the highly competitive and demanding concerns of the construction industry. With more than 50 years of industry history, we combine responsive, personal service with the strength of a top 15 U.S. accounting firm. Our objective is to create an approach that is customized to meet your business needs. We work with contractors of all sizes and specialties.

Strategic Plan to Optimize Results

To assist clients in today's construction environment, we offer a complete business toolbox of services. These tools focus on achieving and maximizing financial objectives that are beyond standard accounting and tax services for construction companies.

Using industry knowledge and years of experience, we will work with you to create a strategic plan to optimize your business results by:

- Taking advantage of often overlooked tax savings opportunities
- Planning for long-term contract tax regulations
- Minimizing taxes without destroying the working capital required for bonding
- Providing timely and quality audit and review reporting that increases credibility with bonding agents, surety writers and bankers
- Benchmarking your financial statements with you to enable strategic financial decisions
