

Dixon Hughes Goodman's Government Contracting Group has long served the government contractor community. We focus on working with firms currently seeking or conducting business with the government and have the ability to support the full life cycle of your company. Our group offers a breadth of services to help your company navigate the strict rules and regulations of the industry.

The Benefits of Experience

Government contractors rely on Dixon Hughes Goodman to provide tools for the hurdles you will encounter through the various stages of developing your business. To do this we bring our current knowledge of the Federal Acquisition Regulations (FAR), the Cost Accounting Standards Board (CASB) agenda, as well as the changes to the Small Business Administration (SBA), to make certain our group is up to date with the effects of policies on the local and national levels.
